NOTICE OF CHARITABLE BEQUESTS.
HUGH DUNLOP BROWN, M.A., B.L., Porter of the Presbyterian Manse, Strand street, Dublin, late of 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, Deceased.
Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Sec. 30 and 31 Vic., C. 94, that the above-named Deceased, who died on the 26th day of April, 1918, at 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, aforesaid, by his Will, dated 15th November, 1917, appointed as Executors and Trustees of his Will John D. Pearson, of 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, aforesaid, Solicitor, and Hon. Treasurer of the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission, and Henry J. McCormick, of Dublin, Solicitor, thereinafter referred to as his Trustees Testator bequeathed Three Hundred Pounds to the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission, to be transferred into the names of the Secretary and Treasurer and two other members of the Committee of the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission, and to be applied by the said Trustees in the maintenance of the work of the said Mission, and directed that the said sum should be paid subject to the condition that all obligations and liabilities undertaken by him in connection with the said Mission, including a guarantee for payment of £150, which he gave to the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission to receive a fund for defraying the expenses of Dr. S. J. Reid's Mission in Manchuria, should be duly discharged upon, and be paid out of, said legacy before applying any part thereof to the purposes of the Mission. Testator bequeathed to the Irish Baptist College, 45 Harcourt street, Dublin, one hundred Preference Shares in the said Company, to be transferred into the names of the Secretary and Treasurer and two other members of the Committee of said College, to be used for the purposes of the said College, together with certain gifts over, but this bequest and gifts over were revoked by the Codicils hereinafter referred to. Testator bequeathed to the Trustees of said Baptist Church, Harcourt street, two hundred and fifty Preference Shares in said Company, to be used for the purposes of the said Church, but this bequest was revoked by the first Codicil hereinafter referred to. Testator bequeathed to his Trustees and John Dunlop Gilmore, Secretary of the Irish Baptist Home Mission, and Miss Margaret Ann Gilmore, M.A., of Beeches, five hundred Preference Shares in the said Company upon trust to pay the dividend thereof at their absolute discretion to apply the income thereof for the purpose of discontinuing to such person or persons as they might think best books and tracts written by him, and he empowered the Committee of the Baptist Publication Society of Ireland to appoint new Trustees of the said fund as might from time to time be necessary, and directed that the number of such Trustees should never be less than two, and that the said fund or the said capital sum should be kept intact, and that the income only should be applied for the purpose aforesaid, and for no other purpose. Testator bequeathed to the Trustees of Alexander Performance Fund, to Brown, Thomas, and Co., Limited, upon trust, to pay the income thereof, or of any other investment or investments of same, to the persons named in the said Will during their joint lives, and to the survivor during his or her life, and upon further trust upon the death of such survivor to pay or transfer the capital of said bequest to or into the names of the Secretary and Treasurer and two members of the Committee of the Irish Baptist Home Mission, to be applied by the Committee of said Mission for the work thereof in the Diocese of Munster, Leinster, and Connaught, and if said Mission should cease to exist, or to carry on Baptist work in said area, he directed that any undisposed of balance of said legacy should be paid to or transferred to a Committee consisting of four persons, two of whom should be appointed by the Minister of the Baptist Church, Dublin; one by the Limerick Baptist Church, and one by the Cork Baptist Church, and Trustees appointed as the first members of said Committee, Albert J. Macdonald, Henry J. McCormick, as representing Harcourt Street Church; Mr. A. R. Hamilton, as representing Dublin Grosvenor Baptist Church, and Pastor Frederick W. Gracey, as representing Cork Baptist Church, and directed that the said residue proved of balance should be applied by said Committee towards the carrying on of Baptist work expenses in the said area. Testator bequeathed to his Trustees Six hundred Preference Shares in said Company upon trust, to pay the income thereof, or of any other investment representing the same, to the persons named in said Will during her life, with certain gifts over upon her death, which said gifts over were revoked by the Codicils hereinafter referred to. After making certain other bequests, the Testator bequeathed the residue of his estate to th Irish Baptist Home Mission for the work thereof.
By a first Codicil, dated 16th April, 1918, the Testator revoked the gifts and interests bequeathed by his said Will to or for the use of the Harcourt Street, Dublin, Baptist Church, whether absolute or conditional, in reversion or remainder, or in any wise whatsoever, and also revoked the gifts and trusts given to said Church, and thereby bequeathed all such gifts and interests to the Trustees of his said Will, to be disposed of by them for such charitable and religious purposes connected with the work of Baptists in Ireland as they in their uncontrolled discretion might see fit, for the said Trustees to be Trustees, failing one of said Church or any members thereof, in respect of any legacy which under his said Will were conferred on said Church or any members thereof.
By a first Codicil, dated 22nd April, 1918, the Testator revoked all gifts and interests bequeathed by his said Will to or for the use of the Irish Baptist College, Dublin, whether absolute or conditional, contingent or in reversion, and in any wise whatsoever given by his said Will, and thereby bequeathed all such gifts and interests to the Trustees of his said Will, to be disposed of by them for such charitable and religious purposes connected with the work of Baptists in Ireland as his said Trustees in their uncontrolled discretion might see fit.
Probate of the said Will and two Codicils was on the 25th day of June, 1918, granted to the said Rev. J. Macdougall and Henry J. McCormick, the surviving Executors and Trustees named in said Will of John D. Pearson, late of 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, Deceased.
Dated 17th day of June, 1918.

NOTICE OF CHARITABLE BEQUESTS.
HUGH DUNLOP BROWN, M.A., B.L., Porter of the Presbyterian Manse, Strand street, Dublin, late of 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, Deceased.
Notice is hereby given, pursuant to Sec. 30 and 31 Vic., C. 94, that the above-named Deceased, who died on the 26th day of April, 1918, at 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, aforesaid, by his Will, dated 15th November, 1917, appointed as Executors and Trustees of his Will John D. Pearson, of 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, aforesaid, Solicitor, and Hon. Treasurer of the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission, and Henry J. McCormick, of Dublin, Solicitor, thereinafter referred to as his Trustees Testator bequeathed Three Hundred Pounds to the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission, to be transferred into the names of the Secretary and Treasurer and two other members of the Committee of the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission, and to be applied by the said Trustees in the maintenance of the work of the said Mission, and directed that the said sum should be paid subject to the condition that all obligations and liabilities undertaken by him in connection with the said Mission, including a guarantee for payment of £150, which he gave to the Irish Baptist Foreign Mission to receive a fund for defraying the expenses of Dr. S. J. Reid's Mission in Manchuria, should be duly discharged upon, and be paid out of, said legacy before applying any part thereof to the purposes of the Mission. Testator bequeathed to the Irish Baptist College, 45 Harcourt street, Dublin, one hundred Preference Shares in the said Company, to be transferred into the names of the Secretary and Treasurer and two other members of the Committee of said College, to be used for the purposes of the said College, together with certain gifts over, but this bequest and gifts over were revoked by the Codicils hereinafter referred to. Testator bequeathed to the Trustees of said Baptist Church, Harcourt street, two hundred and fifty Preference Shares in said Company, to be used for the purposes of the said Church, but this bequest was revoked by the first Codicil hereinafter referred to. Testator bequeathed to his Trustees and John Dunlop Gilmore, Secretary of the Irish Baptist Home Mission, and Miss Margaret Ann Gilmore, M.A., of Beeches, five hundred Preference Shares in the said Company upon trust to pay the dividend thereof at their absolute discretion to apply the income thereof for the purpose of discontinuing to such person or persons as they might think best books and tracts written by him, and he empowered the Committee of the Baptist Publication Society of Ireland to appoint new Trustees of the said fund as might from time to time be necessary, and directed that the number of such Trustees should never be less than two, and that the said fund or the said capital sum should be kept intact, and that the income only should be applied for the purpose aforesaid, and for no other purpose. Testator bequeathed to the Trustees of Alexander Performance Fund, to Brown, Thomas, and Co., Limited, upon trust, to pay the income thereof, or of any other investment or investments of same, to the persons named in the said Will during their joint lives, and to the survivor during his or her life, and upon further trust upon the death of such survivor to pay or transfer the capital of said bequest to or into the names of the Secretary and Treasurer and two members of the Committee of the said Irish Baptist Home Mission, to be applied by the Committee of said Mission for the work thereof in the Diocese of Munster, Leinster, and Connaught, and if said Mission should cease to exist, or to carry on Baptist work in said area, he directed that any undisposed of balance of said legacy should be paid to or transferred to a Committee consisting of four persons, two of whom should be appointed by the Minister of the Baptist Church, Dublin; one by the Limerick Baptist Church, and one by the Cork Baptist Church, and Trustees appointed as the first members of said Committee, Albert J. Macdonald, Henry J. McCormick, as representing Harcourt Street Church; Mr. A. R. Hamilton, as representing Dublin Grosvenor Baptist Church, and Pastor Frederick W. Gracey, as representing Cork Baptist Church, and directed that the said residue proved of balance should be applied by said Committee towards the carrying on of Baptist work expenses in the said area. Testator bequeathed to his Trustees Six hundred Preference Shares in said Company upon trust, to pay the income thereof, or of any other investment representing the same, to the persons named in said Will during her life, with certain gifts over upon her death, which said gifts over were revoked by the Codicils hereinafter referred to. After making certain other bequests, the Testator bequeathed the residue of his estate to th Irish Baptist Home Mission for the work thereof.
By a first Codicil, dated 16th April, 1918, the Testator revoked the gifts and interests bequeathed by his said Will to or for the use of the Harcourt Street, Dublin, Baptist Church, whether absolute or conditional, in reversion or remainder, or in any wise whatsoever given by his said Will, and thereby bequeathed all such gifts and interests to the Trustees of his said Will, to be disposed of by them for such charitable and religious purposes connected with the work of Baptists in Ireland as they in their uncontrolled discretion might see fit, for the said Trustees to be Trustees, failing one of said Church or any members thereof, in respect of any legacy which under his said Will were conferred on said Church or any members thereof.
By a first Codicil, dated 22nd April, 1918, the Testator revoked all gifts and interests bequeathed by his said Will to or for the use of the Irish Baptist College, Dublin, whether absolute or conditional, contingent or in reversion, and in any wise whatsoever given by his said Will, and thereby bequeathed all such gifts and interests to the Trustees of his said Will, to be disposed of by them for such charitable and religious purposes connected with the work of Baptists in Ireland as his said Trustees in their uncontrolled discretion might see fit.
Probate of the said Will and two Codicils was on the 25th day of June, 1918, granted to the said Rev. J. Macdougall and Henry J. McCormick, the surviving Executors and Trustees named in said Will of John D. Pearson, late of 72 Upper Leeson street, Dublin, Deceased.
Dated 17th day of June, 1918.
H. J. McCORMICK, Solicitor for said Executors and Trustees, 27 Molesworth street, Dublin.

VICTORIA CROSS AWARDS.

INDIAN RIFLEMAN'S DARING.

His Majesty the King has been graciously pleased to approve of the award of the Victoria Cross to the undermentioned man:—

Cruickshank [illegible] assistance, and was [illegible]

OLS: THE IRISH POLICY STAND?

Lord Curzon's rather startling announcement, as Parliamentary Correspondent of The [illegible] Irish policy—perhaps, it would be accurate to call it his negation of Irish [illegible] seems to have been interpreted too [illegible] his audiences. The Government, as [illegible] regard their twin proposals as [illegible] but by no means abandoned. In [illegible] they have no intention either of [illegible] their application of the Military Act to Ireland or relaxing their efforts [illegible] a measure of self-government. Recent [illegible] Ireland have undoubtedly convinced [illegible] that their first business is to establish [illegible] order, but their policy remains un-

THE IRISH POLICY STAND?

Lord Curzon's oratory, says The [illegible] make his version of the Govern- [illegible] policy magnificent. His speech on [illegible] sounded like a confession of [illegible] As an explanation of failure, on the [illegible] it was altogether incomplete. No- [illegible] really followed the course of Irish [illegible] so dumbfounded as Lord Curzon [illegible] the revelation last month that [illegible] was in league with the Ger- [illegible] Treaty. Sinn Fein (Lord Wimborne) [illegible] patent all the time, and the [illegible] Letter of the Convention and of the [illegible] self-government, to which it led, was [illegible] that Sinn Fein could ultimately be [illegible] the forces of constitutional [illegible] The real effect of the May re- [illegible] was not that they frustrated Home [illegible] that they compelled the Government [illegible] a number of Sinn Fein leaders, to [illegible] great advantage of Ireland, what- [illegible] sentimental reaction in East Cavan [illegible] it is true, was on throes ground [illegible] with the other "great event" which [illegible] course of policy. The claim [illegible] Hardinge to underline as a [illegible] politics is as serious as [illegible] This is by no means [illegible] that the bishops have postponed [illegible] which they have always de- [illegible] fought in secret, but it is the first [illegible] many years that any Church in these [illegible] has set itself in open opposition to the [illegible] and to the law. No review of Irish [illegible] can fail to place this fact in the fore- [illegible] At least Lord Curzon is justi- [illegible] situation so radically [illegible] But the gravest defect in his [illegible] is that he studiously omits [illegible] parenthesis, that the [illegible] neither abolished, their [illegible] nor changed their front. Yet [illegible] conveyed to the whole [illegible] was that they have, in [illegible] and that House Rule and even [illegible] dependent and independent ob- [illegible] a score of solemn pledges, have gone [illegible] into the abyss of forsaken causes. Is [illegible] the case? Have the Government, [illegible] or the proconsulate [illegible] indeed, [illegible] facts of the situation may well [illegible] Was Lord Curzon speaking textually [illegible], or was his announcement coloured [illegible] reticence of his logs? He has said little [illegible] event developments under the new [illegible] in Dublin, but they are not wholly [illegible] apart from a certain welcome [illegible] in administration, to establish the belief [illegible] accepted and consistent whole. Taken [illegible] with the speech of Lord Curzon's, they [illegible] more than a little bewildering, and we [illegible] that our Parliamentary Correspondent [illegible] when he tells us that the policy stands- [illegible] it certainly a case for plainer statement.

THE SOUTHERN UNIONISTS.

Midleton, writes to The Times—Lord [illegible] speaking in the House of Lords on the [illegible] proposals, stated that "the Southern [illegible] Ulster." The latter statement, who had [illegible] a battle which he conceived to be in the [illegible] of the country." This is incorrect. [illegible] Union was probably misled by the report [illegible] journals of a speech of mine [illegible] meeting of the Irish Unionist Alliance. This [illegible] involved only one-third or one-fourth [illegible] Committee; it took place at a meeting [illegible] Ulster representatives were present in [illegible] numbers, and the Southern [illegible] have in no way passed no resolution [illegible] future policy.

SUGAR FOR DOMESTIC FRUIT PRESERVING.

FOOD COMMITTEE'S PLAN.

Details of the Food Committee's plan for making sugar available for the domestic preserving of fruit were announced by the Food Controller in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon. Mr. Lloyd George explained that the quantity of sugar to be allowed for preserving purposes would depend on the quantity of fruit available, and that the amount would be determined by the number of persons in each household, and not by the quantity of fruit grown in the household. The scheme would be administered by the local food committees, which would make arrangements for the sale of sugar by retailers. Applications for sugar would be made by householders on forms to be obtained from the local committees, and the sugar would be delivered by the retailers. The Food Controller said that the scheme would make clear the extent of the demand for sugar for preserving purposes, and that the Government would be prepared to take steps to increase the supply if the demand proved to be greater than was anticipated.

NEW KIPS AND CALF SKINS ORDER.

The Army Council Order, appearing in last [illegible] Gazette, notifies, directs that no kips or [illegible] skins taken off in Ireland on and after May [illegible] shall be tanned or dressed in Ireland [illegible] without a permit issued by the Director [illegible] Raw Materials, or at prices exceeding the [illegible] fixed by him, and that no such skins shall [illegible] to be produced from kips or calf skins [illegible] be bought without a similar permit.

TRAGIC OCCURRENCE IN COUNTY GALWAY.

LUNATIC'S DEATH IN BURNING HOUSE.

[illegible] telegraphed late last night—A sensational affair occurred to-day at a place called Curraghin, near Castlehackett, [illegible] away. Having turned his uncle and his family out of the house he barricaded himself inside, and from one of the police, who [illegible] kept up a continuous fire at the police [illegible] from the outside, and who fired in return [illegible] the house in the hope that Dowd's ammunition would soon become exhausted. At about [illegible] Dowd, who is known to the Galway, peeped over [illegible] Sergt. Dunne, Galway, peeped over [illegible] and Dowd instantly fired, the shot striking [illegible] the sergeant in the eyes. His eyesight was [illegible] totally destroyed, and he was conveyed [illegible] to a Dublin hospital. Dowd then set fire to the [illegible] which was shortly afterwards burned [illegible] to ashes, and the charred remains of the unfortunate man were found. While the house was burning he continued firing at intervals, [illegible] approaching. He was unmarried.

During a strike of municipal employees at Cannes house refuse has not been collected for six weeks, and the streets remain uncleaned. Volunteers and relatives have to dig the graves for the dead.

FROM "THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY.

THE GOVERNMENT AND IRELAND.

Lord Curzon's rather startling announcement, as Parliamentary Correspondent of The [illegible] Irish policy—perhaps, it would be accurate to call it his negation of Irish [illegible] seems to have been interpreted too [illegible] his audiences. The Government, as [illegible] regard their twin proposals as [illegible] but by no means abandoned. In [illegible] they have no intention either of [illegible] their application of the Military Act to Ireland or relaxing their efforts [illegible] a measure of self-government. Recent [illegible] Ireland have undoubtedly convinced [illegible] that their first business is to establish [illegible] order, but their policy remains un-

THE IRISH POLICY STAND?

Lord Curzon's oratory, says The [illegible] make his version of the Govern- [illegible] policy magnificent. His speech on [illegible] sounded like a confession of [illegible] As an explanation of failure, on the [illegible] it was altogether incomplete. No- [illegible] really followed the course of Irish [illegible] so dumbfounded as Lord Curzon [illegible] the revelation last month that [illegible] was in league with the Ger- [illegible] Treaty. Sinn Fein (Lord Wimborne) [illegible] patent all the time, and the [illegible] Letter of the Convention and of the [illegible] self-government, to which it led, was [illegible] that Sinn Fein could ultimately be [illegible] the forces of constitutional [illegible] The real effect of the May re- [illegible] was not that they frustrated Home [illegible] that they compelled the Government [illegible] a number of Sinn Fein leaders, to [illegible] great advantage of Ireland, what- [illegible] sentimental reaction in East Cavan [illegible] it is true, was on throes ground [illegible] with the other "great event" which [illegible] course of policy. The claim [illegible] Hardinge to underline as a [illegible] politics is as serious as [illegible] This is by no means [illegible] that the bishops have postponed [illegible] which they have always de- [illegible] fought in secret, but it is the first [illegible] many years that any Church in these [illegible] has set itself in open opposition to the [illegible] and to the law. No review of Irish [illegible] can fail to place this fact in the fore- [illegible] At least Lord Curzon is justi- [illegible] situation so radically [illegible] But the gravest defect in his [illegible] is that he studiously omits [illegible] parenthesis, that the [illegible] neither abolished, their [illegible] nor changed their front. Yet [illegible] conveyed to the whole [illegible] was that they have, in [illegible] and that House Rule and even [illegible] dependent and independent ob- [illegible] a score of solemn pledges, have gone [illegible] into the abyss of forsaken causes. Is [illegible] the case? Have the Government, [illegible] or the proconsulate [illegible] indeed, [illegible] facts of the situation may well [illegible] Was Lord Curzon speaking textually [illegible], or was his announcement coloured [illegible] reticence of his logs? He has said little [illegible] event developments under the new [illegible] in Dublin, but they are not wholly [illegible] apart from a certain welcome [illegible] in administration, to establish the belief [illegible] accepted and consistent whole. Taken [illegible] with the speech of Lord Curzon's, they [illegible] more than a little bewildering, and we [illegible] that our Parliamentary Correspondent [illegible] when he tells us that the policy stands- [illegible] it certainly a case for plainer statement.

BRITISH MISSION AT YOKOHAMA.

PRINCE ARTHUR OF CONNAUGHT CORDIALLY WELCOMED.

Writing on Tuesday, Reuter's Tokio Correspondent says that a visit of Prince Arthur of Connaught at Yokohama, addresses were presented by the Mayor and the British Consul, and the daughters of Commander Arnold presented a garland of flowers. The Mayor of Yokohama, in a speech, said: It gives us great satisfaction to welcome to our midst a gentleman of strong alliance which binds our two nations in earnest mutual efforts towards their high purpose. [illegible] friendship, and by your arrival in Japan of Your Royal Highness as personal representative of your august Sovereign is pure our Emperor's decision. [illegible] baton of a Field Marshal cannot but strengthen the bonds of friendship and loyalty between the two nations. Further, on behalf of the whole [illegible] gratulations on the safe arrival of Your Royal Highness, and we wish Your Royal Highness many years of happiness.

The Emperor has conferred the following decorations on the occasion of the King's birthday:—Lieutenant-General Sir William Pulteney, First Class of the Order of the Rising Sun; Lieutenant-General J. A. Shoubridge, Third Class of the Order of the Rising Sun; Lord Bembrick, Third Class of the Order of Lord Rhondda, Fourth Class of the Order of the Rising Sun.

Yokohama, says another Reuter message, is decorated to-day and triumphal arches have been erected for the occasion. The Imperial train arrived at Prince Arthur's lodge, where the Emperor will personally meet His Royal Highness on his arrival. The preparations in Tokio are of the most elaborate description. Every house will display British and Japanese flags and lanterns at night.

Prince Arthur of Connaught and suite arrived at the Central Station, Tokio, at 11.30 a.m. The Emperor personally received His Royal Highness. A guard of honour, under the command of Captain Pearson, was in attendance. Lieutenant William Smith, Lieutenant Macfarlane, and Second Lieutenant Vincent Flynn, the latter an American, were killed.

It is now known beyond any doubt that grenades were thrown at a Hamburg express train near the Hallern Railway Station. The train was immediately stopped, but the criminal had escaped.

WESTERN FRONT.

GERMAN TRENCHES RAIDED.

SMART OPERATION BY SCOTTISH TROOPS.

Raids and patrol encounters are again reported from the British front. Scottish troops broke into the enemy's trenches north of the Scarpe, inflicted heavy casualties on the garrison, and returned with a number of prisoners, after having blown up dug-outs and machine guns. British airmen heavily bombed Bruges, Ostend Docks, Zebrugge, and other places.

The French executed a movement, by which they improved their positions north of Favcrolles.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

Friday, 9.57 a.m.

During the night we captured a few prisoners and machine guns and inflicted many casualties on the enemy in raids and patrol encounters in Aveluy Wood, in the neighbourhood of Hebuterne and Boyelles, and on both banks of the Scarpe.

Several hostile attempts to recapture the ground gained by us yesterday morning north-west of Merris were repulsed with loss to the enemy.

7.50 p.m.

In the raid carried out by us last night north of the Scarpe Scottish troops penetrated the German trenches, inflicting heavy casualties on the enemy's garrison, and captured a number of prisoners.

A number of dug-outs and several machine guns were blown up and destroyed.

Nothing of special interest has occurred during the day.

Aviation.—On the 20th inst. low clouds and rain greatly hampered flying operations. One enemy machine was brought down, and one of our machines is missing.

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

Friday.

We have improved our positions north of Favcrolles and in the region south of Hauts Vrancs.

A score of prisoners remained in our hands.

Friday Night.

There was nothing to report on the whole of the front.

AMERICAN OFFICIAL.

Thursday, 9 p.m.

Patrolling has again been specially active north-west of Château Thierry, and in the Woevre hostile patrols suffered considerable losses in patrol encounters and from our machine gun fire. Artillery fighting continues in these regions and in Lorraine.

GERMAN OFFICIAL.

Friday.

Army Group of Crown Prince Rupprecht.—The enemy has kept up violent reconnoitring activity during the whole front. They were repulsed everywhere. North-east of Merris and north of Albert British patrol attacks broke down with hand grenades.

Army Group of German Crown Prince.—Local attacks by the French south-west of Nayon and by Americans north-west of Château Thierry broke down. French and Americans suffered heavy losses. Some prisoners remained in our hands. South-west of Rheims Italian prisoners were captured.

The large clearly-marked hospital buildings in the Valley of the Vesle, between Bruyeres and Mortigny, which were formerly used by the French, have recently twice been the objective of enemy air raids.

NEXT GERMAN EFFORT.

The French papers raise a Paris telegram to the effect that a German attack is imminent on the Franco-British front, still incline to the belief that there are indications that grave developments are pending.

The Matin predicts that the German effort will be directed against the British front, drawing a distinction between the fighting value of Prussian shells in the region of Ayette, to the south of Arras.

COLLISION IN THE AIR.

THREE OFFICERS KILLED.

A verdict of "accidental death" was returned at an inquest in Cheshire yesterday on Captain William H. G. Pearson, and Lieutenant William Smith Macfarlane, of Edinburgh, and Lieutenant Vincent Flynn, of New Jersey, U.S.A., who were killed by getting in a collision while flying at a height of one thousand feet on Thursday. Evidence was given that Captain Pearson was in charge of machine No. 5, and Macfarlane, and that Lieutenant Flynn was flying alone. They came together as though practising fighting. Pearson turned to the right, which was the rule of the Force when flying, but Flynn turned to the left, and the machines collided and came to the ground wrecked. Pearson and Flynn were killed instantly, and Macfarlane died a few minutes after being picked up. In the opinion of a witness, had Flynn adhered to the rules, and turned to the right, the accident would not have happened.

HEROIC ITALIAN ADMIRAL.

Mr. A. Beaumont, Special Correspondent of the Press Association and Daily Telegraph, telegraphs from Milan yesterday: The news from Rome gives graphic particulars of the heroic death of Admiral Rossarol, who, it may be remembered, lost his life recently when a steamer was sunk, through remaining at his post till the last moment. He stood calmly on deck and smoked a cigarette whilst giving his last orders. Admiral Viglione was of an advanced age, and might have been on the retired list, but he asked to be allowed to continue his services, and was assigned to escort duty. He commanded an escort for a large convoy, which had successfully evaded the enemy submarines till midnight on May 30th, when a ship was torpedoed. The sea was slightly agitated, and there was plenty of moonlight, both of which circumstances favoured the enemy. The steamer began to sink rapidly by the bow, and though the Admiral was in the engine-room of the vessel, and might have left its salvage to the captain after giving the necessary orders, he, nevertheless, remained on board for the Italian. When the deck of the vessel was awash it was pointed out to the Admiral that all the launches had already been lowered, and urged him to go away. Admiral Viglione simply continued smoking his cigarette, and ordered the last two men (his orderly and a steward) to go in their own safety. They crawled aft, and finally jumped overboard. That was the last they saw of the Admiral, who, after putting on a lifebelt, but evidently preferred to go down with his ship.

ITALIAN FRONT.

GROUND REGAINED.

SITUATION ON THE PIAVE.

The Italians appear to have regained the initiative, and the official report issued last night showed that the Austrians have been compelled to yield a great part of the ground they won in their initial attack.

Yesterday the enemy were forced back a considerable distance on the Montello, and on the Piave important positions in the neighbourhood of Zenson were recaptured.

West of S. Dona, the Austrians advanced to the attack four times, and on each occasion they were driven back by gunfire.

Many more prisoners have been captured by the Allies, and one report states that they all admit that the Austrian losses have been "exceptionally heavy."

There is now no doubt that the Austrian attack on the mountain front was a complete failure, but a correspondent points out that they have strong reserves in that area, and that they may be expected to renew their efforts.

ITALIAN OFFICIAL.

Thursday Night.

In Val Tellina (valley of the Astico) there were more intense artillery actions on the right of the Adige, and repeated enemy attempts against Mount Corno were broken by the ready resistance of the Bersaglieri on the Asiago plateau. Some of our parties, after having crossed the crest of the Castalienga, are in close contact with the enemy lines in the Val Bella, where the enemy is in great strength.

Raids carried out by Italian and Allied detachments took more prisoners and war material.

In the region of Mount Grappa the artillery duel continued to be very intense. From the Montello down to the sea the battle has continued fiercely. On the Montello, Italian attacks which were launched yesterday gained new ground. A violent enemy counter-attack, although supported by strong artillery action, only succeeded in slightly reducing the advantages which we had previously gained.

Along the Piave our troops pressed the enemy closely, and succeeded in eliminating the western salient of San Dona.

In the evening a violent effort which several enemy divisions had launched to the west of Zenson was immediately checked, and this morning an Italian counter-attack, notwithstanding violent enemy fire, re-established the situation.

Bombing operations were carried out incessantly by our aircraft. Twelve tons of explosives were dropped on enemy bridges and crossings over the river, and fourteen enemy aircraft were brought down.

The booty in prisoners and material is considerably growing. The enemy is losing heavily. The bad weather has set in again.

Friday Night.

On the Montello yesterday the pressure of the enemy continued strongly, but was everywhere withheld by our dauntless troops, who, after counter-attacking, regained ground.

Advances attempted by the enemy towards the south-east animated the struggle, particularly to the east of the Casa Gheller Bavaria line, and in the vicinity of Nervesa. Here, in the early morning, advancing with admirable elan, captured 400 prisoners and many machine guns, and arrested the progress of the enemy's battery of medium calibre, which were promptly put in action again against the enemy.

On the Piave the Austrians renewed their efforts. In some sectors to the west of Candelu a hostile attack was completely repulsed, and more to the south, between Fossalta and Zenson, another counter-offensive action begun on the night of the 15th-20th inst. has continued irresistibly, and San Dona was on the afternoon of the 20th before. The enemy suffered losses equal to his strenuous resistance. Several hundred prisoners remained in our hands.

In the region to the west of St. Dona the enemy attempted a strong action against Losson, lasting five hours. By our fire we repressed the attack four times in vain, until, exhausted by the exceptionally heavy losses suffered, he was forced to yield in face of the dauntless advance of the Sardinians of the Sassari Brigade, valiantly helped by the 11th Battalion of the 209th Infantry Brigade Brigade, and by the Bersaglieri Cyclist Battalion.

To the north of Corteiazza parties of our sailors and Bersaglieri daringly broke into the enemy lines, capturing 200 prisoners, and firmly holding the position afterwards.

In the Val Lagarina we extended the bridgehead during the fighting, which has been continuing for several days on the difficult terrain of Monfilo.

The aviators, in spite of adverse atmospheric conditions, carried out many notable activity. Munitions were brought down. For the first time our airmen and those of our Allies had as their companions, in daring American pilots, as soon as they arrived on our front, wished to participate in the battle. Valiant Major Baracca, who gained his thirty-fourth victory in the air, did not return on the 19th instant from an heroic war flight.

AUSTRIAN OFFICIAL.

Yesterday the enemy continued his efforts with undiminished violence to wrest away from us the successes which we had won. All assaults broke down before the unflinching resistance of our heroic troops.

The struggle on the Carso plateau of the Montello increased to especial violence, where the enemy, after having launched to the attack their hastily constructed trenches, destroyed wave after wave of the enemy's storming troops. Our indomitable fighters stood their ground in hand-to-hand fighting.

On a front of 12 kilometres the enemy concentrated fourteen divisions and numerous artillery regiments in order to shake the wall formed by our brave men. The tremendous consumption of material and human blood which these forces have in vain sacrificed

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

AN AERIAL POST.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I have read your interesting leading article upon the question of an aerial post to-day, and see the different parts of the British Isles already an aerial postal service has been tried between London and Paris, and we hear of a similar aerial postal service between Berlin and Copenhagen. Why should we not have one between Dublin and Holyhead, and one between Dublin and Stranraer?

There will be a necessity for more means of communication in the postal service after the war is plain, if we are to maintain a trade relations and developments. The post would be an outward and the greatly unity of commercial re- between all parts of the Kingdom. Ireland, especially, suffers from its ignorance born of isolation, which be largely removed by the recognition and establishment of all the latest benefits with which we have been endowed by science. As it forms part of women at present to guard our friend, I would suggest that an effort should immediately made to the Government on behalf of the women of Ireland, and that we should be furnished them with two machines for this aerial postal service, one to ply to Dublin and Holyhead, and one between Dublin and Stranraer. This service should not be established after the war.

NO[illegible]intervention could present one, and the advantages would be manifold. It would be a second machine; but between us should be mutual interest in both services, and, if any should fail, then merely a friendly one to further and endeavour. It would be a great advantage.—Yours, etc.,

WOMEN AND THE FRANCHISE.

THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—The lists of Parliamentary voters have been issued, and are posted at the various police barracks and post offices. It behoves every woman over thirty who is qualified as the [illegible] of an occupier of land or premises, house business of her own, or as living in un- husband's room for which she pays a rent, to [illegible] that her name has been correctly entered in the lists. If there has been any omission, she should immediately apply to the Clerk of the Crown, Four Courts, Dublin, or to the Town Clerk, [illegible] fill up. The latest date [illegible] received by either of the aforesaid gentlemen.

It is essential that women should now establish their claim to the Parliamentary franchise, which so many have been working for these fifty years.—Yours, etc.,

SHORTAGE OF COAL.

THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—I would like to know whether there is any truth in the widespread report that there is a shortage of coal. If so, can anyone explain why all the leading railways in Ireland should run so many of what are now called "[illegible] trains"—formerly known as "no every race meeting? I know [illegible] Baldoyle and Leopardstown recently.

Only answer, if there is a real shortage, seems to me to be that they are also in a position to drastically cutting down their ordinary train services, to the great inconvenience of the travelling public, the large majority of whom object to use the railways in connection with their business.—Yours, etc.,

A METEORIC FIREBALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—A magnificent meteor was seen over Ireland on June 3rd last, a minute or two after 10 p.m., Greenwich mean time. It lit up every country for several seconds with a glare which appeared to shine as bright as noonday. The path of the meteor was seen as far away as Bristol [illegible] I happened to be watching for meteors [illegible] that night, but [illegible] was too late in the west for me to mark its flight.

If any of your readers witnessed this brilliant phenomenon, and noted the estimated time of its beginning and ending either by comparing bearing or by the stars near it, I should be glad if they would kindly communicate it to me. The velocity of the object if the observational data are forthcoming.—Yours, etc.,

PLATFORM AND STAGE.

There was a time—long, long ago—when Church and stage were wedded in the cause of truth. In later times they were estranged. The stage was looked upon as evil and the actor as a vagabond. More recently a better spirit has informed them both, and now we see the stage approaching nearer to the Church, and the Church anxious to know more not only of the theatre, but of the life and thought of those who move therein. The work of the Church Actors' Guild is known to all. It has brought minister and player into closer contact to the lasting benefit of both. Now we have bishops holding forth in the theatre to men's just admiration. One of the most sane of these is the Bishop of London. He had pleasant things to say at the Theatre Girls' Club the other day, and they were no less true than pleasant. The theatre, he said, was an integral part of the life of a great city. It was a tremendous engine for good or evil in the life of the city, and he wanted to claim it for good. They did a public service to-day in backing up the great actor-managers and all who wanted to give them a good stage. If it was true that the people got the government they deserved, it was also true that they got the stage they deserved. So said the Bishop, speaking from experience. He spoke sound sense, which could not have been better put.

Literature owes several masterpieces—works without which it would be infinitely poorer—to the prison-life of Cervantes and John Bunyan were among the great imprisoned ones whose minds were free. Romance and allegory and illuminating diaries are the best known forms of prison literature. Now the war has given prison effort a new impetus, and it has taken shape in song, speaking from experience. The son of a Toronto clergyman, was studying music in Germany when war was declared. He was interned as an alien prisoner at Ruhleben, and there he qualified for his degree, his answers to examination papers and his exercise (a composition) being smuggled from Ruhleben to Oxford. Mr. Macmillan is the first prisoner in enemy hands who has graduated Musical Doctor of the University of Oxford. The figures of internment camps may not at first sight be conducive to the arts; but "The mind is its own place."

One does not readily associate "the touches of human harmony" with politics. Yet politicians have been good musicians, and musicians have embarked in politics, not always with full satisfaction to themselves. Of living statesmen, Mr. Balfour is a learned musician—in what branch of art is he not learned, if one may judge from his Romanes lecture? He is also an authority on Handel, and is said to be a brilliant instrumentalist. A Labour member in the early days of August, 1914, led the House in singing the National Anthem, and it was astonishing to note the harmony that suddenly possessed our politicians of divergent views. But there are not a few among distinguished politicians who can claim to be profound musicians. One reads of Cromwell singing Psalms, and wonders whether Cromwell's singing was in tune, or treated it as once he did the bauble in the House. Mr. Lloyd George, who possesses somewhat of Cromwellian energy, plays the violin, attends the Eisteddfod; but who has heard him sing? One other Premier, Mr. Gladstone, manifested a great interest in music, and his playing on the piano was rich and flexible and of a wide compass. It is said, however that he boasted of no special merit for the performance, and that his highest ambitions than a nigger song. True, certain of his less discreet admirers classed him as a finished singer; "Granny" was, however, mind he drastically cutting down their ordinary train [illegible] to the great inconvenience of the travelling public, the large majority of whom object to use the railways in connection with their business.—Yours, etc.,

A METEORIC FIREBALL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—A magnificent meteor was seen over Ireland on June 3rd last, a minute or two after 10 p.m., Greenwich mean time. It lit up every country for several seconds with a glare which appeared to shine as bright as noonday. The path of the meteor was seen as far away as Bristol [illegible] I happened to be watching for meteors [illegible] that night, but [illegible] was too late in the west for me to mark its flight.

If any of your readers witnessed this brilliant phenomenon, and noted the estimated time of its beginning and ending either by comparing bearing or by the stars near it, I should be glad if they would kindly communicate it to me. The velocity of the object if the observational data are forthcoming.—Yours, etc.,

DUBLIN CASTLE HOSPITAL.

ENTERTAINMENT AND SPORTS.

Yesterday afternoon the wounded officers and men who are under treatment in Dublin Castle Red Cross Hospital had a pleasant outing in the Castle Garden. Forty officers and one hundred and seventy men took part. The entertainment was given by the V.A.D.'s and nursing staffs, and consisted of tea, cakes, and strawberries and cream. The officers who are patients supplied the prizes, which included such useful articles as safety razors, hair brushes, boxes of cigarettes, writing pads, etc., by permission of Colonel F. W. Foley the band of the Royal Berkshire Regiment, under the baton of Mr. A. E. Weaver, rendered a selection of dance during the afternoon. The sports consisted of tug-of-war between two teams of men who had only one hand that they could use. The nurses antagonised the visitors of the first tug and the nurses won. Other events were invalid chair races, sack races, three legged races, potato-picking, A.B.C. and nurses' races, officers' races, etc. At the close of the programme, which was an entirely impromptu one, the Matron distributed the prizes to the winners, and there was general cheering. The judge of the tug-of-war was the Chief Commissioner, D.M.P., and the prizes were judged by Lieutenant-Colonel Scanlan, R.A.M.C.; Major Carew, and Captain Baylis. Among the visitors were—Lady Wimborne, Lady Mahaffy, the Dean of the Chapel Royal, Alderman James Moran, Colonel Hearn, R.A.M.C. Sir Arthur and Lady Martin Burton, Garrison Adjutant; Mrs. Owen Lewis, Mrs. Power O'Donoghue, and Mr. William Vaughan, Secretary.

ORTHOPÆDIC MILITARY HOSPITAL, BLACKROCK.

SUCCESSFUL ATHLETIC MEETING.

At the Orthopædic Military Hospital, Blackrock, a sports meeting was held on Tuesday, and a good programme was arranged at a good deal of trouble, and carried out yesterday. Everybody who had a hand in it is to be congratulated on the success which attended the occasion. It was given under the patronage of Major-General Sir Joseph [illegible] K.B., who was present, and showed great interest in all that was going on. Other patrons were Colonel C.M.G., D.S.O., and Lady Fitzgerald Arnott. The sports were held through the kindness of Mr. McCutcheon, of Mondello Bungalows, on the field at Blackrock. Not only were there athletic sports, but also sideshows and refreshments, and a very good little musical band of wounded soldiers, under the baton of Sergeant Hide—something to be [illegible] crowd attended, and thoroughly enjoyed the day's doings. Above all, the rain refrained from [illegible] only one heavy shower to interrupt the flow of events and the general course of entertainment. The principal events were run in the grounds of the Hospital [illegible] Guild—Hon. Secretary, Lady Thomas Myles, reported that for the week ending May 25th [illegible] of comforts and clothing, and sent 515 articles of clothing, 60 active service and 55 miscellaneous articles to men on [illegible] Soldiers' Workrooms.—19 men were employed.

MARLBOROUGH STREET TRAINING COLLEGE.

PRESBYTERIAN STUDENTS' PRIZES.

The annual meeting and distribution of prizes in connection with the religious instruction lectures to students of the Irish Presbyterian Church attending Marlborough Street Training College was held yesterday in the No. 1 Girls' Central Model School.

The Moderator of the General Assembly (Dr. James G. Gibson) presided.

The Chaplain (Rev. Dr. Denham Osborne), in his report, noted that the continuance of the unprecedented struggle involved the necessity again to report a large deficiency in the number of candidates for the ministry. Of the 261 students entered for the session, 166 women and 95 men, a total of 261, were enrolled. Attendance was attended by 57 women and nine men, a most satisfactory increase. The papers sent in examination by Professor Byers and Mr. Strahan, except four, passed, while the first and second prizes in each year's studentship marked 90 per cent. and over, had to be extended. The programme for the year, including the special prize, was Jeanne D. S. Scott, with 994 marks; the Comedy Girl, Charles Rich, comic; Den and Mark, Irish comedians; and the Bam Bams, a number of American cowboys, who provide a regular "turn."

Next week's programme at the Queen's Theatre, Dublin, is an all-Irish one. There are Cocoma MacDonagh, as well Dick Perfecta, Miss Louie Crawford's Merry Pom-Poms, in song and dance, and Miss Julie Lyons, the girl vocalist. Three Rovers and a Piano, Hal Dugland Trio, Pat McNamara, comedian and dancer; Carney and Stanley, the White Blackbirds; Gerald P. Reid, baritone; Terry Lane, accordeon; the Sisters Olive and Ivy, and the Brockland Troupe.

A new series of "talent" concerts will commence at the Rotunda, Dublin, to-morrow evening. Another twenty performers will take part in the programme, and the audience will adjudge their merits and award the prizes.

On Monday next Mr. Franklin Dyall and Miss Mary Merrall will present the second play of their season at the Abbey Theatre—the new McIvroy comedy, "Her Ladyship." Those who have watched the Abbey during the past two weeks have been impressed by the art bestowed upon the "Tog-Cart," and it is safe to say that the new production will maintain the standard already set up. The producers have chosen everything possible to make the setting worthy of the comedy. There will be the usual matinee on Saturday.

Arrangements for the British Empire Shakespeare Society's production of "The Tempest," in Lord Iveagh's gardens, St. Stephen's Green, Dublin, are now complete. There will be two performances—the first on the evening of Friday next at 8 o'clock, and the second on the after noon of Saturday next at 3 o'clock—in aid of the funds of the County Dublin Branch of the Red Cross Society. A strong cast will interpret the comedy. Miss Lennox Robinson is Ariel, Mr. O'Hea, and the Cave and the Rock scene have been designed by Mr. Robert Small, of the Gaiety Theatre, Dublin.

"Mrs. Mulligan's Millions," a new three-act comedy, will be produced next week at the Empire Theatre, Dublin, by Mr. Fred O'Donovan. The cast includes the Misses May Hayden, Gertie Carlisle, Clancy Mesers. Peter Judge, Hubert Maguire, Barry Fitzgerald, Maurice Esmond, and Fred. O'Donovan.

LAW REPORTS.

ALLEGED ASSAULT ON A SOLICITOR.

At Nisi Prius yesterday, before Mr. Justice Kenny and a civil special jury, the case of Carroll v. Barry was heard. It was an action brought by Mr. Anthony Carroll, solicitor, Fermoy, against Mr. Henry Barry, auctioneer, etc., Fermoy, to recover damages for alleged assault. The defendant denied the alleged assault, and pleaded that the assault was committed in self-defence, and was provoked by the plaintiff.

Serjeant Sullivan, Mr. T. M. Healy, K.C., M.P., and Mr. James Reardon (instructed by Messrs. Barry Galvin and Son), appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr. H. D. Conner, K.C., Mr. Swayne, K.C., and Mr. H. Moloney (instructed by Messrs. Rice and Son), represented the defendant.

Serjeant Sullivan, in opening the case, said there had seldom been brought into court an action of greater gravity to the parties and the public, or whose decision was a matter of such importance to the public peace and well-being of the district. Plaintiff, a well-known and highly-esteemed solicitor, was for many years Crown Solicitor for the East Riding of the County Cork, and the defendant, a well-to-do auctioneer, had endeavored to make his life intolerable in the community, when anyone with any sense of decency about him would see an example of peace and good order should be maintained.

Mr. Anthony Carroll, the plaintiff, was then examined by Mr. Healy, and detailed the circumstances connected with the sale by the Cecils Hyde property for the owner, Mrs. Walker. There was some much ill-feeling between the defendant, but nevertheless he recommended Mr. Barry as the most suitable auctioneer to obtain a fair and reasonably put an enormous amount of business in defendant's way. Witness drew his attention to an unfortunate error of the sale catalogue, whereupon Mr. Barry became most violent, and used threatening language, and in such like fashion continued on interviewed. Defendant, among other things, said—"Wouldn't I find a dozen men to knock Bellington [illegible] M.D.; Grange Burke, Beamish Morrison, J. Russell, H. S. Chapter, H. E. Nunn, Professor H. J. A. P. Dawson, A. D. Orr, Professor H. J. C. Nolan (Carrall), A. G. Patterson, W. Kelly, R. C. Joy, E. L. Phillips, J. L. Stewart, J. MacCarthy, William C. Roche.
